

Jérémie A. Langlois

PhD Student, University of Wisconsin–Madison, Department of Political Science
110 North Hall, 1050 Bascom Mall, Madison, Wisconsin 53706

✉ jalanglois@wisc.edu | jablangois@gmail.com ☎ +1 484 373 1857 | Updated: 17 Dec 2021

Research Interests

Social movements and contentions politics; revolutions; civil-military relations; critical political economy; Middle East politics; environmental politics; democratization; qualitative methods.

Education

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON, DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

PhD Student: Comparative Politics & International Relations 2021-Present

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY, CENTER FOR CONTEMPORARY ARAB STUDIES

M.A. in Arab Studies with Distinction, concentration in Politics 2019-2021

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY

B.A. in Political Science & Middle Eastern Studies Cum Laude 2012-2016

Refereed Articles

Forthcoming, “When Reorganizing Coercion Backfires: Explaining the Mechanisms of Revolt in Sudan and Algeria” Democratization (acceptance conditional on minor edits).

WORKS IN PROGRESS

“Meaning-Proximity-Agency: A New Approach to Environmental Contention,” (with Marwa Daoudy).

“Pro-Government Militias and the Authoritarian Social Contract: The Case of Sudan.”

“Comprador Islamists? A New Class Analysis of the Egyptian Muslim Brotherhood.”

Policy and Other Writing

“What’s Next After Tunisia’s ‘Populist Wave’ Elections?” Geopolitical Monitor, September 16, 2019. Republished with Eurasia Review, September 18, 2019.

“When Media Capture Backfires: Local Elections and Digital Media in Turkey,” with Duygu Guvenc. The Center for International Media Assistance, July 22, 2019. Republished with the Global Investigative Journalism Network (English and Bangla), August 13, 2019.

“Tunisian Social Movements: A Democratic Bulwark in an Uncertain Transition.” La Formoisie, January 27, 2019.

“Why the Islamic Republic of Iran Hates Wednesdays.” Democracy Digest, January 16, 2019.

“Tunisian Resistance, Seven Years On.” La Formoisie, January 31, 2018.

“America’s Relationship with the Middle East.” The Fordham Political Review. March 4, 2013.

Grants, Fellowships and Awards

Academic Year FLAS Grant (University of Wisconsin-Madison)– $27,000	2021-2022
U.S. State Department Critical Language Scholarship– ~$12,000	2021
Academic Year FLAS Grant (Georgetown University)– $27,000	2020-2021
Summer FLAS Grant (Georgetown University)– $7,500	2020
Transatlantic Policy Symposium Travel Grant (For Co-Author)– $750	2020
Georgetown University Graduate Language Scholarship– $12,000	2019, 2020
Center for Contemporary Arab Studies Supplemental Scholarship– $1,200	2020
Georgetown University Tuition Merit Scholarship– $20,000	2019-2020
Sultan Qaboos Center Arabic Language Scholarship	2018
Pi Sigma Alpha National Political Science Honor Society	2016
Sigma Iota Rho International Studies Honor Society	2016
Fordham University Dean’s List, Dean’s List First Honors	2013, 2015
Fordham University Matteo Ricci Scholar	2013-2015

Conferences and Workshops

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

Middle East Studies Association, Annual Meeting	2020
---	------

WORKSHOP PRESENTATIONS

European Workshops in International Studies: Nature and Political Order in the Middle East	2021
Georgetown Arab Studies Graduate Research Symposium	2020
Fordham University Undergraduate Research Symposium	2016

Research Experience

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON, DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Project Assistant (Professor Marwa Shalaby)	2021-Present
Project Assistant (Professor Steven Brooke)	2021-Present

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY, CENTER FOR CONTEMPORARY ARAB STUDIES

Research Consultant	2021-Present
Research Assistant (Professor Marwa Daoudy)	2020-2021

POLICY & NON-PROFIT RESEARCH

The National Endowment for Democracy, Research Associate	2018-2019
Amman Center for Human Rights Studies, Research Intern	2016
Election Network for the Arab Region, Election Monitor/Analyst	2016

Research Skills

LANGUAGES

English: Native

French: Native speaking and reading, advanced writing

Modern Standard Arabic: Intermediate

Levantine Arabic: Intermediate

DATA ANALYSIS

Excel: Intermediate

R: Intermediate

Stata: Intermediate